Organizes the 2nd scientific day

Pathogenesis
and New Therapeutic Approaches :
From Bench to Bedside

USTHB, October 22, 2025

THE MAIN OBJECTIVE

The main objective of the LBCM-Tamayouz Scientific Day is to highlight the scientific and technological advances achieved in the fields of immune-inflammatory and infectious pathogenesis, biotherapy, and genomics, while fostering interaction among researchers, industry professionals, and entrepreneurs. This event will also serve as a platform for presenting doctoral projects with potential for innovation and technology transfer, particularly in the context of creating innovative start-ups in the biotechnology and health fields.

ABSTRACT SUBMISSION

Participants are invited to submit their abstracts according to the proposed template for oral or poster presentation via the following link:

<https://lbcmtamayouz.netlify.app/>

Each participant can submit a maximum of 2 abstracts

TOPICS

- Cancer
- Inflammatory and Infectious Pathogenesis and, Genomics
- Biomolecules and Biotherapy
